Cancer Immuno-Therapy with 'Yod-Ying Protocol' under BVRC

The decision...refusal of conventional chemotherapy

Mr. Winai's family especially his daughter was not confident about the long term impact of chemotherapy as it was witnessed from many other people suffering and dying. His daughter also noticed him being very weak to begin with and was not sure if he would survive through such a harsh treatment. So she searched around and decided to place him under the Yod-Ying Protocol to help tackle his conditions.

State of health prior to beginning the therapy

Mr. Winai was rather weak and fragile from several years of medications and periodic hospitalizations. After surgery he was even weaker with more side effects appearing in gastrointestinal symptoms ranging from indigestion, pain, bloating and also lowered appetite. He spent a rather inactive and to the less healthy lifestyles with any foods of preference, no exercise and not much of anything to help facilitate healing and to bring back health and vitality.

Entering Therapy With:

Gallbladder cancer with pancreatic & intestinal metastases

When:

End of 2016

Former Treatments:

Mr. Winai began series of long medical treatments with intense pain leading to initial diagnosis of pancreatitis, about 5-6 years prior to cancer diagnosis. He had received medical treatments which involved a periodic hospitalization every 6 months at Muangsamut Hospital during all those years. Later on there were signs of yellow sclera, thus, prompting further diagnostics to find out a gallbladder cancer which also had spread to pancreas and parts of the intestines.

The patient underwent surgical removal of the mass, inclusive of its surrounding tissues before being advised for further chemotherapy. However, he and his family wished to enter alternative approaches first, but were declined from the first attending physician. Upon further consults at Chulabhorn Hospital, the doctor also refused to allow the patient to undergo alternative therapies.

LOVE & AFFIRMATION

Make it all possible for a weak body to get up and fight such a debilitating illness

COMMITMENT

Is the first step in making the therapeutic protocol viable

3

COOPERATION

Steadfastness in strictly following the recommendation makes the therapy a success

Therapeutic Success

The heart of the therapy is the patient's commitment, cooperation and the unconditional love & support he received from his family.

Initially Mr. Winai did not get involved much with the therapeutic process as he was too weak to come by himself for a consult. He was responsible for only the intakes of medicaments delivered to him through his family.

Mr. Winai did not cooperate well at the beginning. He thought the medicaments came in with too many capsules to take within a meal which created a lot of difficulties for him at first. During the initial period of the therapy, these many capsules, apart from creating difficulty swallowing, also gave him even more gastrointestinal disturbances on top of the already weakened tissues from surgery and the disease treatment itself from the beginning. He experienced quite a bit of flatulence, nausea and vomiting as well as episodes of severe pain. During the times at which, he received support from both BVRC for supportive remedies and advice for helpful medicaments and from the hospital for reasonable pain medications.

As the symptoms began to subside and the patient began to slowly gain more strength, he also began to commit and cooperate absolutely to the dietary and lifestyle adjustments, as well as to follow very strictly the intake regimen of innumerable prescriptions. Mr. Winai reported having changed his diets to include mainly clean fish and variety of vegetables. Every once in a while he consumed chicken, a little bit of pork and other high quality proteins, when it became necessary as his blood test results indicated.

Despite being resistant at first with what his daughter brought about, Mr. Winai later followed very well of the Yod-Ying Protocol as he began to feel better. He also learned that his daughter and son in-law had dedicated so much time and effort in helping him get well. Both of his children has been taking excellent care of him all throughout the tough times. Without such profound love and support, Mr. Winai mentioned he would not have made it through even the small part of the journey. His daughter played a very crucial role all throughout the course of his therapy and had been the key to his therapeutic success, as he reported.

“I would not have committed and cooperated this far if it was not because of the support I received from my daughter. My daughter and my son in-law took an excellent care and have always been here for me all through these tough times. Without them I would not even know where I would be now”

From life-threatening & debilitating cancers, I am now like an athlete. I am very strong and healthy and even feel much younger. I have a lot of energy and exercise regularly.

Therapy duration under BVRC

One year of integrative cancer immunotherapy and another 7 months of slowly withdrawing and close monitoring. Prior to this, at post-surgery there were much higher than maximum range of tumor markers: nearly twice as much CA19-9 (Intestinal tissues cancers) and >3 times NSE (Lungs & chest tissues cancers), it has now been more than 2.5 years he is still clear of any indicative cancer growth, from both tumor markers and imaging follow-ups.

CURRENT STATE OF HEALTH: APRIL 2019

An evidence of laboratory test results reveals that his overall body is healthily functioning well. All tumor markers are within normal range, with some markers even at a safe optimal mid range. He also underwent a recent scan, over 2 years after surgery, which also indicated of being clear from cancers. He feels strong and healthy; exercises on a regular basis, with strength and vitality of a much younger man.

“The love and support received from family proofs indispensable.”
Commitment & cooperation could be put forward when a family comes in harmony.
